Liverpool International Music Festival / LIMF is a nationally recognized annual event that presents a wide array of musical performances in different venues around the city over the August Bank Holiday weekend. The main site of Sefton Park features an open-air stage for performances, and other presentations, displays and booths. The Black-E Youth Circus is presenting their latest creation 'Footloose and Fancy Free' as part of this event, in the Children and Families Zone (next to the children's playground, near the café).

The Black-E Youth Circus has grown over the last four years, as more young people have joined in, and visiting circus artists have performed and taught.

Last year they presented 'Standing On The Shoulders' in, and gained wide acclaim and recognition for the combination of theatre and circus arts skills.

The Youth Arts Circus consists of young people, directed by Maria Paul, choreographed by Sue Lancaster , and the Black-E resident group Freefall Circus Arts, composed of Barry Welsh and Nick Hunt.
